INTRODUCTION

INDIAN PRAYER

Great Spirit help me never to judge another until I have walked in his moccasins two weeks.

Mr. John M. Usry at one time lived in Rolla, Missouri. While there he copied the inscriptions from the tombstones of numerous cemeteries in Phelps County, Missouri, for his own personal use and information. At no time did he intend that they should be published until encouraged by SALINE SENTIMENTS to allow publication whereby they would be available to others searching in that locale.

If you have never tried to decipher inscriptions from old tombstones, you are, perhaps, missing the most frustrating experience of your life. So, there are errors; you can expect them. The human element has been involved in four different ways before this information could be published--the informer, the inscriber, Mr. Usry and the typist--not to mention the elements of weather and time. So, please bear with us. Please advise us of omissions and corrections.

There are many graves that have no marker; some have the temporary marker from the funeral home and others have a field stone with hand carved initials. Some of the cemeteries included in these three volumes are no longer extant for one reason or another. Count your blessings in that Mr. Usry found them in time.

Then, too, there are the inscriptions in a foreign language. Well, we did the best that we could!

Normally, in cemetery publications, when names are grouped together it denotes the fact that the persons were buried side-by-side and shared a common headstone. This may not be the case here.

Despite WEATHER, WEEDS and WORSE here they are. May this and the other two volumes be of benefit to you.

Good luck.
